

Facilitated Board Self-Review

Introduction

Our facilitated board self-review offers a concise, objective view of your governance. This service is ideal if your board does not feel ready for an external review of governance, or finding the budget for a full external review is an issue.

Our service

The NGA consultant:

- Facilitates a two-hour workshop with board members to explore their current performance, using our research-based self-evaluation tool.
- Supports those governing to understand best practice, evaluate their current practices, and construct an action plan to develop their governance.
- Provides a report, which summarises the findings of the self-review and the actions recommended to develop board effectiveness.

Our impact

This service provides:

- ✓ Reassurance of governance effectiveness, highlighting good practice
- ✓ Information for training plans and board development
- ✓ Evidence for Ofsted and future external reviews of governance
- ✓ Signposting to available NGA tools and support (depending on NGA membership)
- ✓ Recommendations to improve the effectiveness of governance
- ✓ Improved board self-awareness

Our consultants

Our consultants are practicing governance experts with a comprehensive understanding of best practices in leadership. With more than 40 consultants across the country, our team has experience of every governance setting and also delivers NGA's governance training.

Our fee

Our fee to facilitate one board self-review is £899 for members or £950 for non-members. Discounts are available to support the self-review of local boards within a MAT. Our terms and conditions page includes details of our cancellation policy.

NGA fees are inclusive and cover the consultant's travel, incidental expenses and materials. To book a consultant or discuss your project please contact consultancy@nga.org.uk.
